Re: OCR Docket No. 15-23-1208

Dear Samantha Vajskop:

This letter is to notify you of the disposition of the above-referenced complaint filed on January 9, 2023, with the U.S. Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights (OCR), against Elyria City School District (the District) alleging that the District discriminated against female students based on sex. Specifically, the Complainant alleged that the District does not provide equal athletic opportunity to female students with respect to the scheduling of high school basketball games.

OCR enforces Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 (Title IX), 20 U.S.C. § 1681 et seq., and its implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. Part 106, which prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex in any education program or activity operated by a recipient of federal financial assistance. As a recipient of federal financial assistance from the Department the District is subject to this law.

Based on the complaint allegation, OCR opened an investigation of the following legal issue: whether the District provides equal athletic opportunity to members of both sexes with respect to the scheduling of games and practice times, as required by the Title IX implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. § 106.41(c)(3).

During its investigation to date, OCR reviewed information provided by the Complainant and the District and interviewed the District's [redacted content].

Background

The District is a member of the Southwestern athletic conference with seven other school districts, including Amherst Steele, Avon, Avon Lake, Berea-Midpark, Midview, North

The Department of Education's mission is to promote student achievement and preparation for global competitiveness by fostering educational excellence and ensuring equal access.

Ridgeville, and Olmsted Falls. This is the District’s second year in the conference and it will continue in the conference during the 2023-2024 school year.

The Complainant alleged a disparity in the scheduling of the District’s boys’ and girls’ high school varsity basketball games, in that girls’ games are rarely scheduled on Friday nights. Specifically, the Complainant alleged that during the 2022-2023 basketball season, the District’s boys’ high school basketball team had 22 scheduled games, 11 of which were on Friday nights. Comparatively, the District’s girls’ high school basketball team had 22 scheduled games, none of which were on Friday nights.

OCR reviewed the District’s basketball schedules for the 2022-2023 school year. The boys’ varsity basketball team was scheduled for 24 games (one noted as cancelled), 10 of which were on Friday nights, three on Saturday nights, and one on a Saturday morning (a post-season game). The girls’ varsity basketball team was scheduled for 27 games, one of which was on a Friday night (a scrimmage), and 8 on Saturday afternoons (one post-season game). Both the boys’ and girls’ junior varsity (JV) teams were typically scheduled to play earlier on the same days as the varsity teams, although the girls’ JV team was scheduled for two early Friday evening games. The girls’ and boys’ freshman basketball teams played most often at the earliest time slots on the same days the JV and varsity teams played.

The District’s [redacted content] said boys’ varsity basketball games are on Tuesdays and Fridays and non-conference games are generally on Saturdays. Girls’ conference varsity games are traditionally on Wednesdays and Saturdays; non-conference games traditionally fall on a Monday, which gives them Sunday to rest. Scheduling of non-conference games is entirely up to the [redacted content] and the coaches. The [redacted content] said that, just before Thanksgiving 2022, the girls’ basketball team played on a Friday night.

The [redacted content] said Friday and Saturday games draw the most spectators; there is not a big difference based on time of day. When asked to describe the typical attendance for a basketball game on Monday through Thursday, the [redacted content] said that, generally, during the week, attendance is down and there is not a good student following. During the week, the boys have 500-600 in attendance, depending on opponent and location; the girls have about 250 during the week. The [redacted content] said attendance for boys’ basketball games on a Friday or Saturday night have 800-900 in attendance, again depending on opponent and location. When the boys play a close local rival, they “pack the gym,” with a capacity of about 1500. The [redacted content] said the girls’ attendance on the weekend (Saturday afternoon) is also about 250. With respect to girls versus boys, the [redacted content] said the girls’ attendance is exponentially lower. The [redacted content] noted that the team was in the process of building during the 2022-2023 season, so they did not have a huge fan following.

The [redacted content] identified football, boys’ basketball, and boys’ and girls’ wrestling (together) as the District sports that draw the most spectators, in that order.

Legal Standard

The Title IX implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. § 106.31(a) prohibits recipients from, on the basis of sex, excluding a person from participation in, denying the person the benefits of, or subjecting the person to discrimination under any education program or activity operated by the recipient.

Athletics programs are specifically addressed at 34 C.F.R. § 106.41 of the Title IX implementing regulation, which requires a recipient that operates or sponsors interscholastic athletics to provide equal athletic opportunity for members of both sexes. As a means of assessing compliance, OCR follows the Department's Policy Interpretation (Policy Interpretation) issued December 11, 1979, 44 Fed. Reg. 71413 et seq.

OCR examines whether the availability and quality of benefits, opportunities, and treatment provided are equivalent for members of both sexes. There are thirteen major factors listed in the Title IX regulation and the 1979 Policy Interpretation that may be investigated by OCR to determine whether equal opportunities are available. OCR has termed these thirteen major factors "program components." They include the scheduling of games and practice times. 34 C.F.R. § 106.41(c)(3). Interscholastic athletics investigations may not be limited to anything less than a program component. For each of the thirteen program components, the Policy Interpretation lists specific factors to be investigated.

In accordance with the Policy Interpretation, OCR compares the boys' program and the girls' program on an overall basis, not on a sport-by-sport basis (such as, for example, baseball vs. softball). In evaluating program components, a disparity is a difference in benefits or services, on the basis of sex, which has a negative impact on athletes of one sex when compared with benefits or services available to athletes of the other sex. As some differences in benefits provided to boys and girls may be the result of nondiscriminatory reasons, such as the unique aspects of a particular sport, making a determination that a disparity exists requires more than simply identifying differences in benefits and services. Where any disparities are noted, OCR then considers whether they are negligible. Where the disparities are not negligible, OCR determines whether they are the result of nondiscriminatory factors.

Finally, OCR makes a determination as to whether those disparities identified resulted in the denial of equal athletic opportunity to male or female athletes, either because the disparities collectively were of a substantial and unjustified nature or because the disparities in individual program areas were substantial enough by themselves to deny equality of athletic opportunity.

For the program component of scheduling of games and practice time, 34 C.F.R. § 106.41(c)(3), pursuant to the Policy Interpretation, OCR examines the following five factors in assessing compliance: 1) the number of competitive events per sport; 2) the number and length of practice opportunities; 3) the time of day competitive events are scheduled; 4) the time of day practice opportunities are scheduled; and 5) the opportunities to engage in available pre-season and post-season competition.

An institution is not required to schedule the same number of games or practices for men's and women's teams of the same or similar sport. However, any differences favoring, for example, men's teams, should be offset by differences favoring women's teams in other sports.

The provision of greater access to teams of one sex to premium game times for competition can result in a denial of equal athletic opportunity to athletes of the opposite sex.

Conclusion

Based on evidence OCR has reviewed to date, including the 2022-2023 schedules for the varsity girls' and boys' basketball teams, OCR has a cause for concern that the varsity boys' basketball team plays more games on Friday and Saturday nights, whereas the varsity girls' basketball team plays most of its games on either weeknights or Saturday afternoons. The varsity girls played one Friday night game during the 2022-2023 season, with the rest of the games being played on school nights. The boys played 13 games on a Friday or Saturday night. This evidence raises a cause for concern that the District does not provide equal athletic opportunity to members of both sexes with respect to the scheduling of games, as required by the Title IX implementing regulation at 34 C.F.R. § 106.41(c)(3).

Under Section 302 of OCR's Case Processing Manual, allegations under investigation may be resolved at any time when, prior to the conclusion of the investigation, the recipient expresses an interest in resolving the allegations and OCR determines that it is appropriate to resolve them because OCR's investigation has identified concerns that can be addressed through a resolution agreement. In this case, the District expressed an interest in resolving the allegation prior to the conclusion of OCR's investigation and OCR determined resolution was appropriate. On June 1, 2023, the District signed the enclosed Resolution Agreement, which, when fully implemented, will address all of the allegations in the complaint. OCR will monitor the implementation of the Resolution Agreement.
