Student Arrangements: In total, there are approximately 200 students who considered the North Campus their "home" campus. Nearly three-quarters of the group are enrolled in the general Associate of Arts or Associate of Science pathway. The only technical program remaining at that campus was the Human and Social Services program. Among the few students who may have been taking general education courses for other programs, their degree completion pathways remain consistent. It is not uncommon for Southern State students to use multiple campuses, locations, and alternative delivery formats to complete their academic pathway. Such campus or location surfing is common as all of the academic pathways offered at the North Campus are also offered, at least in part, at other locations and surrounding campuses.

To offer students assurance that they would have the most convenient access possible for the continuation of their pathways, the College is leveraging a join-use agreement with neighboring Wilmington College, located less than a mile for the existing North Campus. At this location, the courses necessary for the technical degree in Human and Social Services will continue uninterrupted. In fact, the day/time schedule remains the same as it was when delivered at the North Campus. For students pursuing the Associate of Art or Science pathway, core courses in this area are also being offering at Wilmington College during their typical timeframes. These courses are also widely available at other, nearby Southern State campuses and locations. Lastly, online accessibility is being leveraged to satisfy any accessibility gaps.
