Good Afternoon Ms. Wendy Macias:

My name is [REDACTED] and I am a graduate from Penn State University in 2004. Since I graduate, I have been struggling to pay my student loans both private and federal. I do not understand why the government as neglected to not hear the pain the young adults of this country who are struggling to pay their debt and establish a life for themselves. I know the U.S. Dept of Education as tried for years to assist with cost of education, but we are still have sign private loans to pay our expenses. When your forum comes up in the near future, please also mention student loan issues and how the government should intervene on the young people behalf. I am close to $100,000 In debt. We really could use some help.

Thank you,
