

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to enclose a Message from President Joseph R. Biden, Jr.

Please be advised that the White House has strict guidelines governing the use of Presidential Messages. Any unauthorized use or display of this Message or White House letterhead is strictly prohibited without the prior written consent.

The enclosed Message may only be used for the specific date and purpose for which it was provided. If this Message is provided in conjunction with an event, the Message may be reprinted in the event program, read aloud, and/or physically displayed at that event.

This Message may not otherwise be reproduced or copied for distribution in any form. This Message may not appear in any other publication or other form of communication, including, but not limited to, electronic or print form, nor may it be displayed on any website or in any social media post.

The following non-comprehensive list of actions are expressly prohibited: alteration of this Message; sale of this Message; use of this Message for fundraising, recruiting, advertising, solicitation, promotion, or any commercial venture; or use of this Message as an endorsement of any individual, entity, organization, or unit of government. These prohibitions apply to all forms of communication, including, but not limited to electronic or print form, and/or display on a website or in a social media post or account.

Thank you for your cooperation in adhering to these guidelines.

Sincerely,

Tracey St. Pierre
Director
Office of Executive Secretariat
